How can we prepare ourselves for the consequences of war, terrorism and hurricanes? Who has the straight talk on global warming and long range energy needs? Can we handle our budget deficit, the cost of war, and caring for the elderly with our limited tax base?

I'm Jay Friedheim, and this is why I'm running for U.S. Senate.

We can prepare ourselves for natural disasters and national security by having everyone ages 16 to 60 participate in mandatory national civil service. Everyone can be trained to serve in both war and peacetime.

We must support our troops with decent wages and meaningful veteran's benefits.

The specter of violence directed at the United States will continue to haunt us. If we believe freely elected governments and democracies are only possible with a strong military, we must stop sidestepping the issue of the draft. The draft will serve the dual purpose of supplementing our troops and engaging our nation in much needed public debate concerning military actions.

The energy crisis disproportionately impacts Hawai'i. Escalating shipping costs are inevitable but not unmanageable. Maritime law has been my specialty throughout my 19 years of law practice in Hawai'i. I know how to mend, not end, the Jones Act. Working together we can achieve our dreams of freedom and prosperity. Strength, integrity, intelligence and vision are traits that we need, that we have, and that make a difference.

My name is Jay Friedheim and I've made a big difference in a lot of peoples' lives.
